Course Description
Chew on this! Our aesthetics, values and authority are stuffed with food. This course will be a tasting of food as image, a savoring of feasts as ritual, while digesting current cultural food trends and the health impacts of various dietary habits. A healthy serving of the politics, human movement, and conflicts, over which the scarcity or abundance of food has influenced, will be dished out during the year. Humans have been influenced by their food from subsistence to culinary delicacy foraging to domestication of crops and famine crises. Students will sample specific foods such as coffee, chocolate, and salt and more through readings, films, and visits to local museums. Students will present an abundant banquet of research projects on a wide range of food topics from cannibalism to food waste. In keeping with a course that includes edible art and feast as ritual, the students will cook up at least one feast per semester.

Course Objectives
To participate in food and feasts to discover the complexity of the origins, uses and customs surrounding them.
To examine the role food has played in forming our species, history and culture and to consider how our values, aesthetics and authority have influenced what we eat and where it comes from historically and in popular culture.
To investigate the aesthetic language of food and feasts in art, science, philosophy, literature, religion, health, geography, in politics and in culture.
To organize the connections created by human need, innovation, practice, and production, involving food.

Learning Outcomes
To have a better understanding of the role food and food preparation played in defining the human species.
To learn to recognize relationships between our food and everything we do.
To be able to describe the properties and histories of multiple foodstuffs and the consequences of those histories.
To broaden the student’s global view of human activity as it is driven by or reacting to food.

Fall Required Supplies:
1. Food contributions
2. Moleskine notebook
3. Printing and other required for Food research
Fall Required Reading (To be discussed in class):

Attendance:
Attendance without preparation and participation will be treated as an absence. Tardiness will be treated as an absence. Awake, alert and participating defines attendance – this is not simply signing a sheet or having your body present.

Class attendance is an important component of your grade. You will be excused one absence or one instance of tardiness with no penalty as long as all work is made up by the next class time. Note: this is one absence OR one lateness, not one of each. Any additional absence will incur a 5-point penalty per occurrence. Additional lateness occurrences are penalized as follows; after 15 minutes you are absent. If you notify your professor the day the class is missed or before, these penalties may be excused for emergency situations at the discretion of the professor. If you do not notify the professor the day of the absence or before there is no possibility of waiving the penalty. Since professors will only consider waiving the penalty for extreme emergencies, we suggest that you save your one excused absence until the end of the semester.

Although the one unexcused absence will not affect your class participation grade, there will be no make-ups for missed work. You have to be in class or you will receive a zero for the assignment. You are responsible for all material presented and all announcements made in class. Make sure you have contact information of at least one other student to find out what you have missed. It is not the job of the professor to repeat lessons or announcements to students who missed class time. Students are responsible to read all emails sent by the professor and it will be assumed that the student is aware of all material and calendar changes and other information communicated through email.

Electronic Device Policy
Using your electronic devices to enhance our discussions or for note taking will be permitted. Any Facebook, e mail checking, shopping, texting, studying for other classes or any other unauthorized use within class time will result in a (-5) points for that day.
Every effort will be made, where feasible and practical, to accommodate students who are so challenged. Should you require accommodations, contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC), if you have not done so already. Please note that if you have a student who is registered with the DRC, you will receive notification about the student's disability and a detailed description of accommodations the student will require.
Every effort will be made, where feasible and practical, to accommodate students whose religious practices coincide with class requirements scheduling. Please make sure to notify your instructor at the beginning of the semester of which dates you will be absent or any anticipated problems with completing course work.

Honors College
Below are sections on Honors College citizenship requirements, academic misconduct and plagiarism and student portfolios.

Disability Notice
Every effort will be made, where feasible and practical, to accommodate students who are so challenged. Should you require accommodations, contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC), if you have not done so already. Please note that if you have a student who is registered with the DRC, you will receive notification about the student’s disability and a detailed description of accommodations the student will require.

Religious Observances

Please make sure to notify your instructor at the beginning of the semester of which dates you will be absent or any anticipated problems with completing course work.

Physical, Mental and Sensory Challenges
Every effort will be made, where feasible and practical, to accommodate students who are so challenged. Should you require accommodations, contact the Disability Resource Center, if you have not done so already.

Honors Citizenship Requirements
Beginning in Fall 2014, Honors College students are required to accumulate at least 20 citizenship points each academic year (Fall and Spring) by attending Honors College activities. Students attending only one semester (Fall or Spring) are required to accumulate 10 citizenship points. See http://honors.fiu.edu/academics/policies/citizenship/.

Honors Education in the ARTS (HEARTS)
The HEARTS program is designed to give Honors College student's opportunities to “explore and appreciate different artistic and cultural traditions and modes of artistic expression. HEARTS will also serve as a clearinghouse (and curatorial framework) for our students to experience the arts on campus and in the community by providing them with information about cultural activities and access to performances with free or discounted tickets. See http://honors.fiu.edu/hearts/.

Academic Misconduct Policy
Registration in this course implies an acceptance of and compliance with the Honors College policies for students and the FIU Code of Academic Integrity. Please refer to the following documents for additional information:

GL Learning Outcomes for IDH 3034-5
- Global Awareness: Students will be able to demonstrate knowledge of the interrelatedness of local, global, international, and intercultural issues, trends, and systems.

· Course Learning Outcome: Students will demonstrate knowledge of the interrelated global dynamics (social-cultural, political, economic, etc.) that shape aesthetics, values, and authority in diverse cultural contexts.

· Global Perspectives: Students will be able to develop a multi-perspective analysis of local, global, international, and intercultural problems.

· Course Learning Outcome: Students will be able to analyze the multiple global forces that shape their understanding of aesthetics, values, and authority — economic, political, sociological, technological, cultural, etc.

· Global Engagement: Students will be able to demonstrate a willingness to engage in local, global, international, and intercultural problem solving.

· Course Learning Outcome: Students will be able to develop solutions to local, global, international, and/or intercultural problems related to aesthetics, values, and authority.

Student Portfolios

The Honors College will be using a portfolio method to assess students’ learning outcomes. The portfolio method allows for maximum flexibility in gauging student learning. You will decide (with instructor consultation) what “artifacts” or assignments to include for consideration in your portfolios to demonstrate successful achievement of each of the student learning outcomes.

Portfolios provide a rich context for students to show what they have learned and to explain their learning process. Because the Honors curriculum is meant to be thought provoking and reflective, student self-assessment through portfolios will facilitate learning and provide in-depth assessment.

Each Honors College course includes at least one assignment that could potentially fit portfolio requirements.
